EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS. PRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 27.

A Union Mass MEETING, in this city, is now being canvassed. We hope to hear more of it soon. If our people would turn out and hear the questions of the day discussed by able and eloquent speakers, it would do incalculable good. The speakers can be had. How soon shall we have the meeting?

IT is said that in Parkersburg bribe's both of money and place are freely offered to corrupt Union men of character and influence. Whether the same agencies are at work elsewere we cannot say. Look out for them and expose them. We all see that editors are imported, newspapers started and old ones bought over, to the advocacy of Copperhead principles. It takes money to accomplish results of this kind. Where does it come from and who dispenses it? Is it raised in the State or does it come from metropolitan treasuries raised and dispensed by an extensive organization?

THE statement put forward by the copperheads that the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment will drive 20,000 people from the State, is a falsehood that does not grow any less apparent by iteration. There are not half that number of persons in the State to whom the amendment will apply, and very few of them would inflict irreparable damage on the commonwealth, if for any reason they should emigrate. The purpose of such statements is simply to give this class whatever respectability can be made to attach to numbers. Twenty thousand rebels in the State would make it much less disreputable to be one than the half or fourth that number. This game was practiced all through the war by papers sympathizing with the rebellion, they seeking to add to its respectability by magnifying its armies.

The Amendment in the Southwest All accounts from the Southwestern section of the State go to show that even there where there is a large element of returned rebels and we would naturally expect to find a great many who sympathize with them, the Amendment to the Constitution will be adopted by large majorities. The Union men in that region are confident of the result. A private letter from Kanawha Court House, written by one of the most intelligent and influential gentleman in that county contains the following passage:

"We think we shall be able to carry the Amendment to the Constitution by sweeping majorities in this section of the State. The necessity for such a measure is becoming more apparent every day. Should we permit the State Government to pass into the hands of this ex-rebel party I have no idea that we could stay here at all. It would be intolerable—worse than they are now having matters in Kentucky or the Old Dominion."

The same goat leven states that Col. sweeping majorities in this section o The same gentleman states that Col.

Ben Smith came to grief last month at Roane Court House. He went up there (court being in session) to make a speech, expecting to have things all his own way. It happened that Maj. R. S. Brown, of Jackson county, was there greatly to Col. Smith's surprise (so the letter says.) When Col. Smith had concluded Maj. Brown took up the case for the Union men and used up the Colonel very badly. The Union people there were in extacies over the result. The conservative leaders are exceedingly unfortunate in their little enterprises of this sort.

But recurring to the prospects of vote in this part of the State will be larger than was expected last winter, and that the amendment will be car-ried two to one. From all that I can ried two to one. From all that I can see, I believe it certainly will be car-ried by a large majority. The rebs seem much cowed to what they were last fall; and many of them acknowledge that their own course last fall made bad matters to be worse with

Our readers will be amused by what follows. The writer adds:

liable to err than our representatives, than the entire Union element of Congress? Is he infallible? Is he a modern Solomon? Which party is he acting with? Is his present course consistent with his past? These are questions which the Union men would do well to consider before they adopt his policy.
Col. Johnson closes his speech by advising all that could to take the test oath and yole against the "Constitu-'Some wild tales have been spread through the country lately by leading rebels, to the effect that President John-son had called out 30,000 troops to pro-tect his life and disband Congress. This tect his life and disband Congress. This seemed to revive them considerably, and they began to tell that they knew it would be so; but the papers do not bear them out and they are simmering down, and will have to wait for another chance to raise the wind. We have not got our mails yet in these counties, and you cannot conceive how willing. and you cannot conceive how willing, nay, anxious, these rebels are to hear and seem to believe the wild inventions nay, anxious, these rebels are to hear and seem to believe the wild inventions of their leaders."

Nice people they would be to sit in our Legislature and control the policy of the State! Yet these are the fellows on whose account so much sympathy is on whose account so much sympathy is men. on whose account so much sympathy is expended and who are so atrociously wronged by being kept out of power a little while.

There is one obvious fact that crops out of all the information that comes whose names were used, that it was out of all the information that comes from the border counties, from which most of the rebels went who joined the rebel army, and to which most of those returned, who returned at all. It is that the Union men there are, to a man, is affiliation with rebels; his want of lovelty and events with the constant of the results of the results are the results and events. unwilling to concede that these rebels, who have not yet worn out the bloodstained grey of the confederacy, shall be at once and unreservedly admitted to full political fellowship and equality. Having fought them from first to last, by their votes before the rebellion began, and with their muskets afterwards, they know what these rebels are, what their principles are, and how far they may be trusted. They know what their own present comparatively enviable position has cost. They have paid the price in blood, and in the ruin of their homesteads. They are Mr. Boreman's cheered and endorsed. The effect produced was glorious, and the loyal people went to their homes wiser if not better men. The Union men are confident that they will give a large majority for the "Constitutional amendment and the Union."

Let Union men everywhere stand fast to their colors. "Be ye not deceived, for many shall come in my name, &c.," to deceive the people.

They indulge no hair splitting subtleties. It is with them a plain question of self-preservation, and we have high "conservative" authority for saying they have that right. It is only here, where we never smelt powder, and there never was an armed rebel within a hundred miles of us, and where we do not know practically anything about the desperate, unscrupulous, treacherous and revengeful char-

High Times in Tyler County—Colonel Johnson used up by Billy Boreman.

It is proper to say that the following was received by us some days ago, but was mislaid by accident. We tender the writer an apology for the delay.

Editors Intelligencer:

I have thought it might be of some interest to your readers to know the spirit of Tyler county—the interest the people are taking in the coming election. I shall, therefore, state a few facts, that all who wish may know that Tyler county is as she ever has been, and corrupted Democrats, have been, and now are, at work to reorganize their broken and shattered ranks, under the lead of Col. Johnson and kindred spirits, for the purpose of defeating the "Constitutional Amendment" in Tyler county, and to place it under their control, but this they will hardly do, as the Union men are now fully alive to the issues, and will defeat all Conservatives under the issues, and will defeat all Conservative are revolutionary and unconstitutional, and that the Conservative party who are acting with President Johnson are the true Union party. Col. Johnson deceived the people of this county once before, but will never do it again.

Ist. I will state brifty about the "Conservative meeting at Centreville" on the standing the acting at Centreville" on the circuit of the sanding the fact that Col. Johnson are the true Union party. Col. Johnson deceived the people of this county once before, but will never do it again.

Ist. I will state brifty about the "Conservative meeting at Centreville" on the circuit and the proper constitutional Amendment of the circuit for the cir t again. 1st. I will state britly about the "Conservative meeting at Centreville" on the 31st ult. Col. Johnson was to make a speech to his followers, but unfortu-nately he did not get there. William I. Boreman, Esq., did, which was also an unfortunate occurrence for the Con-servatives there assembled. Mr. Bore-man waited for the Colonel until late, man waited for the Colonel until late, when at the request of a number of Union men he made a speech—exposed the trickery and disloyalty of the Conservative party—told the Union men that they must not be deceived by the false idea of "supporting the President's policy, and that they must act with the party that saved this Government, and not with those who attempted its destruction.

not with those who attempted its destruction.

William Ankron, an original rebel, determined that Boreman's speech should be answered and accordingly began by telling the people that "Boreman had said nothing about the nigger, and therefore he would tell them something about him." So after opening the valve of his throttle until the "nigger" gas exhausted, he rested for a while, then finished by telling them "that something is wrong; there had been two full moons that month (March) which was never known to happen before, and that something was wrong." No doubt of it, Mr. Ankrom; might it not be the couservatives was wrong." No doubt of it, Mr. Ankrons, might it not be the couservatives and rebels. After this, they went to a storeroom, made an effort to orgaize by calling a Union soldier to the chair, but he did not deem it prudent to officiate, and before any one could be selected Mrs. Conoway, a Union lady, made them leave the room. I have understood since that a few of them met that night somewhere and appointed delegates to the "Clarksburg Convention." This meeting will, no doubt, be trump-This meeting will, no doubt, be trump ted throughout all the land by rebe eted throughout all the land by rebel papers as a mighty uprising of the "supporters of the President's policy."

On Monday, the 9th inst., (that being court day) Colonel Johnson came to Middlebourne to give the people of Tyler an account of his stewardship, he said, but really to make a conservative speech. The meeting, or people, were called to order by the Colonel, a president to the chair, and on motion of Colonel Johnson, who seemed to be running the machine, Eli Kerns, a Union Soldier was elected secretary; but Mr. Kerns persistently refused $\psi$. but Mr. Kerns persistently refused to act so they done without. The Colonel then told the people that he had taken an oath to support the Constitution and therefore he could not violate it. He did not vote for the Constitutional Amendment because it was unconstitutional, the same of the Lawyers oath and Registration bill &c. Unfortunately for the Colonel, all the radical measures were unconstitutional, and he could not support them. Colonel, how was it about the resolution censuring the President, which was by your motion laid on the table? He spoke of the "Freemens Bureau bill," complimented the President for vetoing it, as also he did the "Civil Rights bill," and abused Congress in a most shameful manner for passing it; also expelling Senator Stockton and Dan. Vorhees, characterizing their measures as un-Amendment because it was unconstitu the amendment, we have before us a letter from a leading Union man in Boone county, and we find even there the Union men are buoyant with confidence. We quote a few paragraphs:
